Goodness in the educational field is the fulfillment in the students of all that is needed to make their lives successful as true men and true Christians. This process necessarily includes spiritual, moral, intellectual, and physical development, for "Christian education takes in the whole aggregate of human life."

The heavy burden of responsibility belongs to the parents but to aid them in the task, they summon the school in the formation of their children.

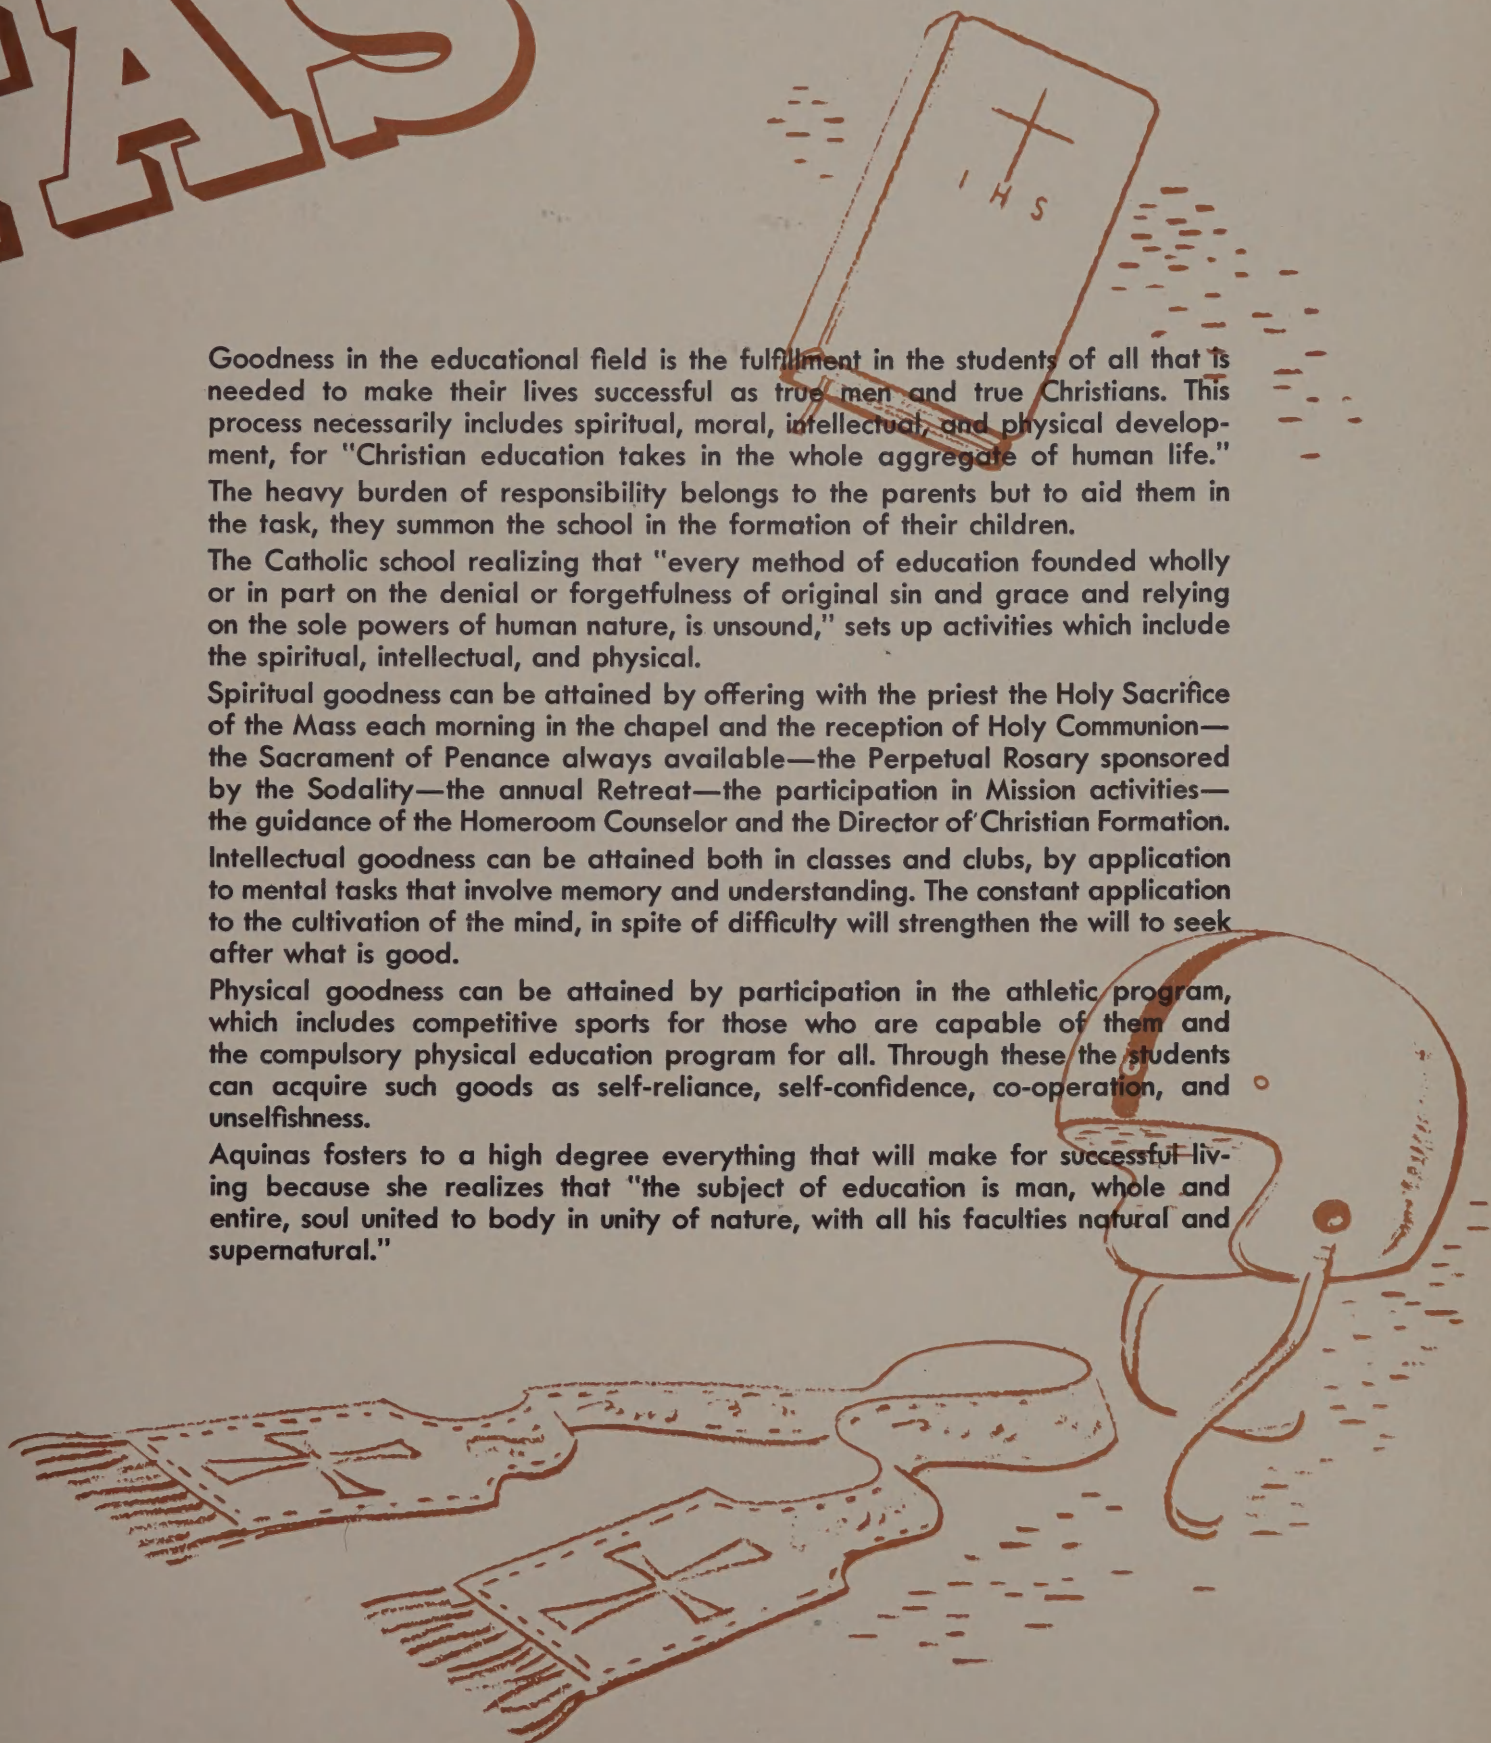

The Catholic school realizing that "every method of education founded wholly or in part on the denial or forgetfulness of original sin and grace and relying on the sole powers of human nature, is unsound," sets up activities which include the spiritual, intellectual, and physical.

Spiritual goodness can be attained by offering with the priest the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass each morning in the chapel and the reception of Holy Communion—the Sacrament of Penance always available—the Perpetual Rosary sponsored by the Sodality—the annual Retreat—the participation in Mission activities—the guidance of the Homeroom Counselor and the Director of Christian Formation.

Intellectual goodness can be attained both in classes and clubs, by application to mental tasks that involve memory and understanding. The constant application to the cultivation of the mind, in spite of difficulty will strengthen the will to seek after what is good.

Physical goodness can be attained by participation in the athletic program, which includes competitive sports for those who are capable of them and the compulsory physical education program for all. Through these the students can acquire such goods as self-reliance, self-confidence, co-operation, and unselfishness.

Aquinas fosters to a high degree everything that will make for successful living because she realizes that "the subject of education is man, whole and entire, soul united to body in unity of nature, with all his faculties natural and supernatural."

"If any man eat of this Bread, he shall live forever." Spiritual goodness cannot be better attained than by reception of Holy Communion, because the Eucharist converts one into Christ, the Perfect Man. It gives an increase of sanctifying grace, which is the participation in the Divine Nature itself, purifies the soul by effacing venial sin, and preserves it from mortal sin, the death of the soul. It is the pledge of eternal life for "he that eateth My Flesh and drinketh My Blood has everlasting life, and I will raise him up in the last day."

For this reason, the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, where the opportunity is given to receive the Bread of Life, is offered each morning in the school chapel.

Seldom does the occasion which inspires the dedication of a yearbook lend itself with so much significance to the persons honored, the students honoring and the world in which we all must live. All of this is found in the dedication of the 1951 Arete to eleven former Aquinas students who in this year will be ordained to the priesthood. The vocation to the priesthood is not a personal gift to the priest. Rather it is an anointing that he may administer to his fellow men in the things that appertain to God. "Every high-priest," says St. Paul, "taken from among men, is ordained for men in those things that appertain to God." So, too, in this age must everyone give himself in some measure to his fellow man in the "things that appertain to God."

The Alma Mater reminds us to "always strive for that which we were made for." These eleven priests, fruits of God's grace at Aquinas, have realized in a deeper way the meaning of these words. Just as "according to the order of Melchisedech they are priests forever," so also, in a special way do they give real meaning to the closing words of the Alma Mater, "Aquinas evermore"!

1950 GRADUATES IN RELIGIOUS HOUSES

The summons of Our Divine Lord, "Come, follow Me," has been answered each year by many Aquinas students. Eleven newly ordained priests will ascend the altar this year, and fourteen from the class of '50 have begun their studies in various religious houses. They, as countless others, have absorbed the spirit of goodness that flows to them from the Church, family, and school. May that goodness which they have imbibed grow stronger and urge them onward to greater heights of zeal in the vineyard of the Lord.

MOST REVEREND
JAMES E. KEARNEY, D.D.

To the Class of 1951,
My dear boys,

Feast of St. Thomas Aquinas

I am happy to avail myself of a page of your "Arete" to give you a last word of blessing as you leave Aquinas. The motto of your Alma Mater, "Credo quidquid dixit Dei Filius," gives you a beacon for the journey that begins at graduation. Faith in Christ, loyalty to His teachings, the inspiration and spiritual sustenance of His sacraments; these will sustain you on the journey and finally bring you into His presence for eternity. May His help brighten the path for each of you, and His grace make your burdens light. God bless you.

Your devoted father in Christ,

JAMES E. KEARNEY

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

One of the chief components of goodness is strength of mind and character. To a high school student, one of the means of acquiring this trait is the participation in the school student government.

Under the executive leadership of the four Senior Class officers, Donald Yeckel, Thomas Moonan, John Pietropaoli, and Peter Romeo, the Student Council of 1950-1951 at Aquinas Institute has attempted, to its utmost ability, to improve the daily life of the students by sponsoring dances, handling various assemblies, and the addition of new conveniences for the students' benefit.

In addition, this school year has witnessed the opportunity of every student at Aquinas to voice his own opinion, concerning school life, ingenuously without fear of criticism or rebuttal. This has been accomplished by the election of homeroom representative members to the councils of their own class. Thereby, each homeroom member speaks his views to his representative, who presents the opinions to the class council, which in turn, offers its decision to the Student Council, composed, besides the Senior Class officers, of four of the members of each class council.

Thus, by student leadership and participation alone, our Student Council develops in every pupil a sense of true democratic government "of the people, for the people, and by the people."

Father Donovan enlightens an Intermediate student.

SENIOR TEACHERS IN CLASS

A serious note in
Sr. Raphael's French III
class.

The "Future, Less Vivid" brings a smile in Father Lococo's Latin III class.

Did you eat your Wheaties this morning,
Health students?

"The Density of Water,"
by Father Silvester.

Father O'Leary's "genii"

"Fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

SENIOR RETREAT

"What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world, yet suffer the loss of his immortal soul". As Ash Wednesday ushered in the holy season of Lent, so did the Senior Class of 1951 usher the Eternal Presence into its soul for three days of recollection with God at the Aquinas Annex.

Conducted by the Very Reverend Patrick Russell, Carmelite Provincial of the New York Province of Saint Elias, the retreat provided the choicest of all opportunities one could desire for advancing before the all-knowing Eyes of God. As a result of the retreat master's inspiring conferences, we began to ponder within ourselves precisely how "even" we stood with the Almighty. Classrooms were converted into incinerators where, by the Divine Power vested in His priests, our Creator allowed us to discard past events in Confession and to start anew on life's treacherous journey toward eternal glory — a chance of a lifetime for an insurance policy for eternity!

At the beginning of the Retreat, Father Spratt offers the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

At a conference, Father Russell stresses a point of doctrine.

Father Regan distributes Ashes.

A visit to the Chapel.

A very important part of the retreat.

IN MEMORIAM

DONALD C. WAHL
Feb. 23, 1935—Dec. 15, 1950

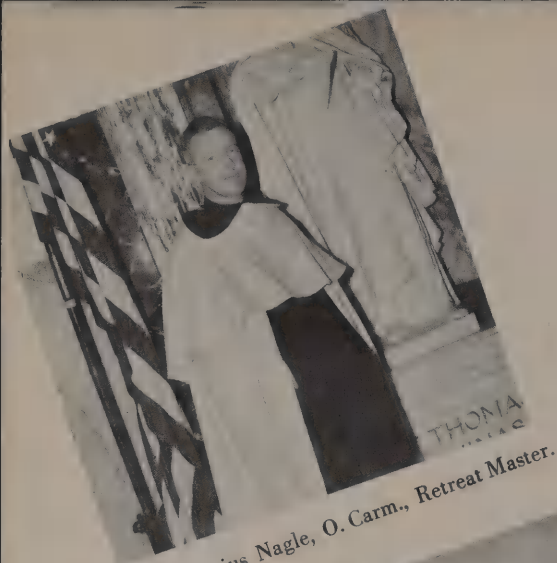

GERARD J. LEIMBERGER
Dec. 13, 1934—Nov. 14, 1950

The faculty and student-body wish to extend to the families of Donald Wahl and Gerard Leimberger their heartfelt sympathy on the deaths of these two ideal Catholic students. Each was popular with both teachers and fellow classmates, and displayed an enthusiastic love for everything Aquinas. Their passing is mourned by their countless friends.

The words of the Preface for the Mass for the Dead, "Life is changed, not taken away," are a great source of consolation to all who loved them.

On the first three days of Lent, February 7, 8, and 9, the Reverend Aloysius Nagle of the Carmelite Fathers conducted the annual retreat for Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors at the main building of Aquinas. Commencing with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and Holy Communion on each morning, the students were "set in the right direction" by their director. From that point, the making of a good retreat rested entirely in the cradle of their conscience. By keeping the day-long silence, their souls were left open for direct conferences with God as to their "stand" in His Eyes. Priests throughout the school exercised their power to forgive the sins of those truly sorry for all of them.

Thus, by retreating with their souls, did so many students advance to glorified heights before the Sight of God.

THE SODALITY

Since the aims of the Sodality are the personal sanctification of its members, the performance of apostolic works to help others, and the defense of the Church, Sodalists are engaged in a rather extensive program. The Sodality is not just an organization; it is a way of life. "To Jesus through Mary" is the motto of the Sodalist.

To attain greater personal holiness, the Sodalist is asked to live a rule which includes daily: the recitation of the Rosary, mental prayer, morning offering, a visit to the Blessed Sacrament, examination of conscience, spiritual reading, attendance at Mass, and reception of Holy Communion daily, if possible.

Organized projects enable the Sodalists to exercise their zeal in the Apostolic work. Our Marian Committee this year has organized the Perpetual Rosary of which five hundred students are members; inaugurated the family Rosary, encouraging families of students to say the beads daily. Our Eucharistic Committee has encouraged frequent Communion among the student body; sponsored the daily Mass, at which about thirty students assist each day; taught students to serve Mass; prepared the vestments and Altar for daily Mass, and organized a group to sing at High Masses in the Chapel. Our Catholic Action Committee put on a campaign to have a Holy Water font in each homeroom, seeing that these fonts are filled periodically; at Christmas time, put on a canned food drive to help needy families and orphans. Finally, the Apostolic Committee distributed some three hundred books and pamphlets for the annual Retreat, sold copies of Father Keller's "Three Minutes a Day," and rosaries, and helped to erect a May day altar.

MISSION CRUSADE

One of the most active organizations in the school is the Mission Unit. Over the years, the generosity of Aquinas students has made this school by far the most outstanding in the nation. This year promises to be the best yet, with the outlook very bright for shattering all previous records.

The goodness obtained by both the students and the missionaries is boundless. To mention only a few of the projects undertaken by Fr. Looby and his predecessor, Fr. Haffey, are: the financing of St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Texas; the education of Brother Alexander in an Indian seminary; and numerous contributions to Fathers Brown, Brennan, and Tierney, all Aquinas graduates. Aquinas mission donations have been sent to Calcutta, Hong Kong, Korea, the Philippines, Hawaii, the Northwest Territory, and many other regions.

All our support is not monetary. This year a homeroom attended Mass every day for the intentions of the missions. Our daily prayers always include these brave men and women of God.

The need of keeping our motto of "Prayer, Sacrifice, and Study" is constantly instilled in our boys by our moderator and by the homeroom Mission leaders. Too much can not be said for these lads who are the backbone of all Mission activities.

We are sure that God will not fail to bless the men of Aquinas for their great zeal for the spread of Christianity throughout the world.

MUSIC

Quite some time ago, the statement was made that "music hath charm". We might say that musicians themselves give us the right to make that statement by the way in which they interpret various musical scores. However, there exists one defect in our opinions and one hardly pardonable at that. There must be one person—a figurative "Magic Chef" we might call him—who takes the ingredients, musicians; playing and reading ability; practice; and application—and with a style made unique by his years of study and experience in the field of musical theory and direction, he blends them in a menu of melodious mirth which will do more than justice to the palate of any audience, musically inclined or not.

For the past nineteen years, Aquinas Institute has been very fortunate indeed to have a music director as described above in the person of Mr. Raymond J. Hasenauer. For hours at a time he takes and develops the sometimes mediocre talent before him into one of the best high school bands in New York State. Adaptable from a crisp Sousa March to a serious Schubert Symphony, the Aquinas Band pays off admirably for the tireless efforts of its director, a true "Musical Magic Chef".

MOTHER'S CLUB

For the last ten years, and in a very special way this year, the Aquinas Mother's Club has done much to assist the faculty in the task of educating the boys. The chief purpose of the organization is to afford the Mothers an opportunity of working in an organized way with the Guidance Counselors in a joint effort to help prepare the boys for life.

In order to accomplish this purpose, meetings are held each month, at which speakers pointed out the organization in the school in regard to guidance and in what ways the Mothers could be of help to the Counselors. Because of this knowledge, and the closer contact between faculty and the members, much is being done to help make the students better Catholic gentlemen.

During the year, the Club also sponsored entertainments such as the Christmas Card Party, which brought the Mothers together for many pleasant and social evenings.

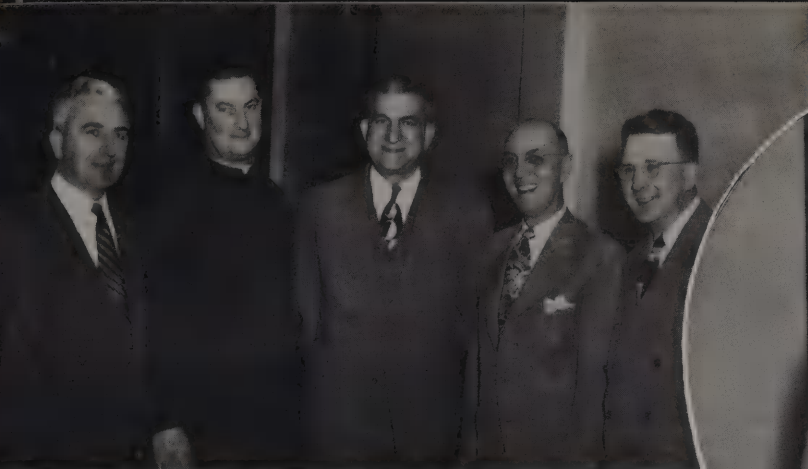

The officers, to whom many congratulations are due, are: Mrs. John J. Mahoney, President; Mrs. Andrew C. Hartzell, Vice-President, Mrs. Francis W. Shortsleeve, Secretary; and Mrs. Frank F. Aprilano, Treasurer.

Business Details!

Seen at one of the monthly meetings.

An organization was founded at Aquinas, which, in the few years it has existed, has done much to assist the school in its work. This organization is the Men's Club. It is comprised of fathers of past and present students, the alumni, and friends of Aquinas. Why this club is so popular is clearly seen when one considers its motives—to assist students in any way possible during their high school years, to help them to choose a college for further education and to attempt to place them in business and industry.

All the meetings are held in the Aquinas auditorium. Refreshments are served in the cafeteria after each session. The opening meeting is in September with other important meetings in March, May, and June. Meetings are held every Monday during the football season at which pictures of the previous Sunday's game are shown with interesting comments by coaches. A special Thanksgiving Eve meeting takes place following the gigantic pep rally on the school campus. For the past few years the "Player of the Week" award was donated by the Men's Club to the outstanding member of the team after each game. The present membership totals some 1500 men, among which are many distinguished Rochesterians.

The success of the Men's Club reflects the zealous work of its officers—Mr. Arthur Bamann, President; Mr. George White, Vice-President; Mr. Michael Lodato, Secretary; Mr. Robert Kolb, Treasurer; and Fr. O'Leary, Faculty Advisor.

ATHLETICS

FOOTBALL

Rev. Cyril F. Carter,
C.S.B.
Director of Athletics

Mr. Harry Connolly, Head Coach

Goodness is the result, not only of Spiritual and Intellectual but also of physical activities. Vigor of body is a most useful addition to vigor of mind and soul. The formation of the whole man would not be complete unless the body should have its energies properly developed in contests demanding skill, force and endurance. To become a man one must be exercised in bodily hardship and strain, such as are had in athletic contests. Physical strength is worth cultivating in order that self-confidence and self-reliance may be acquired. Forcefulness, based on determination of will and disciplined bodily vigor, is one of the essential qualities of manliness.

For this reason Aquinas sponsors such athletic contests in the three major sports of basketball, baseball, and football. For those whose physique cannot endure these, there are supplied such minor sports as swimming, golf, skiing and bowling. In addition, there is the compulsory athletic program. Thus physical exercise is supplied in order that all students may participate to some extent.

To develop the virtue of goodness, one must possess a certain degree of perfection in all his endeavors. What more, therefore, can a person ask of a football team which, in riding the crest of an unbeaten season, gained the national prominence which has been the virtually untouchable goal of every high school and college throughout the country?

It has been asserted in recent years that Aquinas football has gained national recognition on the basis of once and twice beaten seasons. If this be true, how much the greater must be the fame of the "Little Irish" gridmen of 1950 who steam-rolled into the Memorial Stadium turf eight heretofore high school and prep school "giants" with a brand of pigskin wizardry which will leave the skeptics in eyecore amazement for many seasons to come.

Among the teams victimized this past season were such stalwarts as Bishop Byrne High School of Port Arthur, Texas (51-21); Marianapolis Prep of Connecticut (28-6); Catholic Central High School of Toledo, Ohio (39-25); Jesuit High School of Dallas, Texas (46-7); Bullis Prep of Silver Springs, Maryland (21-7); St. George's High School of Chicago, Illinois (21-13); Staunton Military Academy from Virginia (40-13); and Manlius Military Academy of Syracuse, N. Y. (27-7).

With such a record as this before us, we cannot but offer our heartiest congratulations to the team, to Father Carter, to Coaches Connolly and Marella, and to the assistant coaches for a most enviable season's work well done.

B TEAM

Although playing an abbreviated schedule, the "B" team or "Jayvees", nevertheless, showed good potentialities in their brief appearances and gave many indications that they will supply much of the 1951 Varsity Football Team.

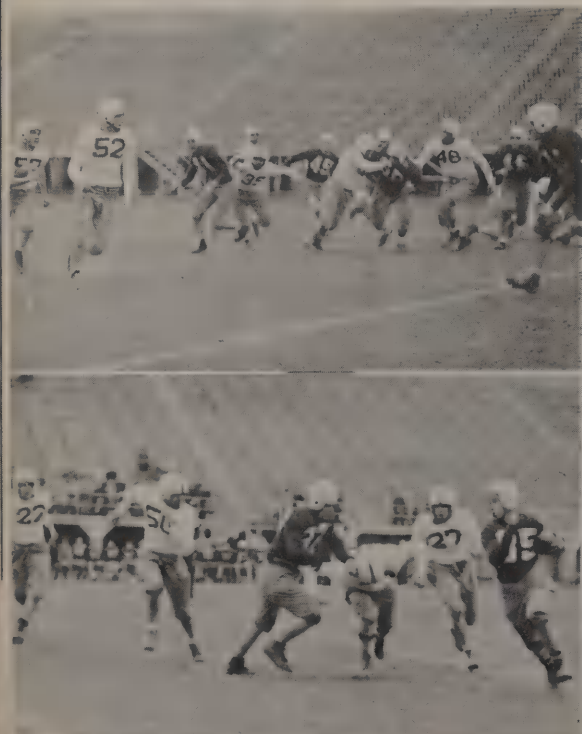

Under the capable coaching of Head Coach Frank "Hunk" Vadas and his assistant Mr. Joseph Moynihan, the Jayvees won three games and lost one, that lone blemish to the third string varsity.

On Nov. 19 the "B" team trounced the Frosh 51-14 at the Aquinas Memorial Stadium.

Cited for their outstanding playing by Messrs. Vadas and Moynihan were backs, Hank Eiffert, Sal Marianetti and Tom Walz; tackle Mike Crino and guard Bruno Gugliotte.

Since the team was predominantly composed of Sophomores and Juniors much is expected of them in the near future.

FRESHMAN TEAM

In spite of the disappointing season endured by the Freshman football team, high hopes are held for the future of the yearlings in Aquinas's football picture for the next three years.

The Annexers, under the tutelage of Assistant Athletic Director Father Wilson, played only two games, both with the "B" team, and lost both. The last game was played in Aquinas Memorial Stadium in the inaugural of an annual contest. Some consolation for the Frosh can be found in that they were playing out of their class and always gave a good account of themselves in both games.

Of outstanding calibre on the Freshman grid team were three boys in particular. Back Greg Britz, and linemen Don Congdon and Don Granger played exceptionally throughout the season and a good deal of consideration will be given to them in the future when the Varsity is being selected.

Rated as one of the best teams to wear the Maroon & White spangles in the last twenty years, the 1950-51 Varsity Basketball squad covered themselves with glory and brought acclaim to everyone connected with the team.

Coach Basil Marella's charges finished with an 11 won, 2 lost record. The climax of the season was an invitation to the Eastern States Basketball Tournament in March at Glens Falls, New York. This was the culmination of a renaissance movement in basketball at Aquinas.

Much of the credit for the success of the Little Irish must be attributed to Coach Marella who converted a short, inexperienced group into a smoothworking, harmonious team.

No one stood out in particular for the Irish cagers, so great was the team balance. However, cited for their outstanding playing were Don Holleder and Lee Riley, the two top scorers; Joe Texter, ace rebounder and defensive man deluxe; Jim Cocilova, the floor leader and Larry Connorton, a great long shot artist.

Completing the squad and playing creditably were Jerry Schoenherr, Phil Zirretta, Gene Sciaratta, Mike Gallo, Larry Broccolo, Gene Gianforti, and Don Palermo.

The two losses to the team were administered by two football rivals, Central Catholic of Toledo, and Manlius Military Academy. The Irish obtained partial revenge, however, by defeating the Manlius Cadets in a return game.

AT KODAK PARK

At the invitation of Mr. Thomas J. Hargrave, President of Eastman Kodak, the faculties of Aquinas Institute, Nazareth Academy, Our Lady of Mercy, and St. Agnes High Schools, visited Kodak Park, Nov. 14, 1950.

The tour through Kodak's 400 acres was not only enjoyable but very educational. The tourists were divided into groups of ten and each was provided with a guide, who explained many interesting processes.

In the evening, dinner was served in one of the spacious dining rooms of the new recreational building. Many questions on all aspects of Kodak life were answered by the directors.

Father Cullinane, speaking for all present, thanked Mr. Hargrave and the directors for a very interesting day.

Does it meet with your approval, Sisters?

MAGAZINE DRIVE

There was in October a twelve day period which manifested beyond a doubt the real depth of the Aquinas school spirit. That period was the magazine drive which this year reached the remarkable amount of $55,111.95. The students made it a real success with the help of a little goading by the homeroom representatives and the many fine prizes provided by the school and various firms in the city. Holidays, television sets, banners, trophies, free Arete pictures, and cash awards were presented to those obtaining the most subscriptions. A neon sign was placed in front of the school representing the top of the thermometer started on the ground floor and was lighted after $50,000 was reached.

Each of thirty-three homerooms brought in over $1000. Homeroom 314 again accumulated the greatest amount—$2489.25.

A short assembly was held each day of the drive at which the daily prizes were distributed and pep talks given by the class officers and the faculty. A mammoth celebration was held at the end of the drive in the auditorium when the final prizes were presented.

The school again wishes to thank all those who worked to make the drive the huge success that it was,—the homeroom moderators and representatives, who instilled that aggressive spirit into each student,—the students, who displayed their best skills of salesmanship,—the Mother's Club, which labored many hours checking subscriptions and counting the returns,—the people of Rochester who bought the subscriptions and furnished prizes,—and last but hardly least, Fr. Looby, the director of this year's magazine drive.
